

Living a life of wealth and worth begins with getting clear on where you are, and where you want to go. Your Future Vision must be the first step you take on your journey. Take 30 - 60 minutes from your day and get into an environment where you feel inspired and can complete this entire exercise uninterrupted. Make yourself a cup of coffee or tea and write from your heart. Describe your next year as if it's already happened — writing from a place of hindsight and gratitude is essential.

DATE: 01 February 2015

I am so grateful for the past year, in the past year I have...
< summarise your year, what happened? How did it make you feel? > finally begun to enjoy the fruits of the efforts I made to truly understand myself, my nature, my values, my motivations and find my flow.

I've finally come to realise that I can have, be, do and see whatever I want as long as I focus on creating lasting value and intelligently leverage that value.

It's scary when I think about how all of it started with this Ramo dude making a firm decision to spend his time doing what he does best, creating awesome, authentic, purposeful stuff.

My personal cash flow...
exceeds $9,500 per month. We are committing over $1,650 per month to savings.

My personal wealth...
is well within the millionaire neighbourhood and looks set to knock on the door of multimillions in the following months.

My reputation... is that of an internet fundi who is synonymous with tackling projects and ventures that seek to address big challenges while spending his time with projects designed to make life easier, simpler and more FUN!

My business...
Tenaka has achieved the $1.3M target we set a couple of years ago, we have focused professionals who understand their contributions and have clear paths that define their growth. It feels great to know that I've managed to maintain a highly valued contribution to ensuring Tenakas' sustainable growth whilst also seeing solid strides being made in the establishment of my next startup. I smell a serial entrepreneur in the works...

My customers... are far more confident in our ability as a Tribe to deliver on complex design and marketing challenges and they're more committed partners as a result. We've managed to find our additional two blue-chip clients while ensuring that smaller clients are well taken of by our partner agencies.

My partners...
have come into their own as entrepreneurs and business owners — much of the anxiety that typified past years has diminished and the guys seem more optimistic than I can ever remember.

My team...
It's scary when I think back to the uncertainty and directionless-ness of the start of this financial year for Tenaka, let alone the thought that the business model and prototype for the our new venture would've gained the insane attention and investor hype it did.

My health... is on the up, I look great physically (goodbye and good riddance beer belly!!) and I'm eating regularly and healthy.

My home...
The decision we made to purchase our home in Lombardy Estate at the beginning of this year feels so right, this house (that was our biggest monthly expense just less than a year ago) represents a measly 25% of our income now... unreal.

My family...
I'm seeing more of Fez and the kids than I ever have. Talking about Fez and the kids, Tshiamo has really come into his own — Unam is rocking Gr. 1 — she's an ever changing personality that one, but I can confidently predict the person an 18 year old Unam will be.

My friends... have taken inspiration from the strides I've made and it seems signs of positive influence are visible again. I've done a far better job of keeping in touch with Tina, Wawa, Rajiv, Baba, Bihzhu and Saji. Feels good to know that my broad(ish) circle of friends know that their friendship has not been taken for granted. I've managed to visit friends I hadn't seen in years!

My network...
consists of world-class entrepreneurs and visionaries, I'm constantly inspired, challenged and supported in ways I could not imagine just months ago.

My mentors... have made everything possible — understanding the importance of ambitious goals and heightened standards is one thing, to spend time among men and women who live those principles has been nothing short of inspiring.

My travel... is my life, I can't (nor do I want to) separate the two. The fact that more often than not, I'm able to travel with my family is a true blessing. I missed this so much, I always knew that this was the way we were meant to live our lives.

My hobbies... have expanded in both breadth and depth. I've played golf in dream locations I'd only ever seen on TV and have finally learnt how to Wakeboard — reckon I'll set my sights on Snowboarding next year. Think I'm bitten by the bug :)

My new skills...
give me confidence to really pursue any venture that makes use of my unique talents, leverages my connections and aligns with my values and passions. This once confused yet ambitious guy has really come into his own as a capable and recognised entrepreneur. Who knew??

My time...
feels like it's finally arranged to suit me and not the other way around, I enjoy the reduced travel time and stress and creating decided "creative" time has been the best decision I could have ever made for finding my zone time and time again.

My peace of mind...

My love of life...

My magic moments...

My sense of purpose... has been awakened again and I've started making some big plans surrounding philanthropy going into the years to come. Breaking out of my shell and sharing my dream with others has proven to be rewarding given all of the doors its opened.

My contribution...

My outlook...
Feeling like a better version of the younger me — all the self-belief I've ever had, strength of mind, and body and soul. All these things do better by a wiser, more "I-will-go-out-there-and-kick-ass" and strategic me. Life's good magents. God is good. All the time.

THIS DIDN'T HAPPEN IN 2015 (OR THE FOLLOWING YEAR) BUT WE EVENTUALLY GOT THERE 🤔

I'VE SINCE LEARNED TO AVOID SETTING GOALS THAT I DON'T HAVE FULL CONTROL OVER.

4 YEARS LATER.. STILL W.I.P #FAIL

WE PURCHASED THIS VERY HOUSE MONTHS LATER — AT THE TIME I WROTE THIS, MY WIFE HADN'T EVEN SEEN THE PROPERTY.

FEZ AND I HAD AN AWESOME HOLIDAY WITH RAJIV AND KUL IN BALI (RAJIV AND I LAST SAW EACH OTHER YEARS BEFORE WHEN WE WERE VARSITY STUDENTS).

(YEARS) WHAT WAS TO LATER BECOME THAT SORTED LIFE, INC.

You've completed your Future Vision!

Read the Future Vision you've just written. Does it inspire you? If you were to achieve only half of the things you described, would this be your best year ever? If you've answered with an emphatic "yes!" to both these questions, then this note represents your destination for the next 12 months, don't allow yourself to be distracted by anything which doesn't align with your Future Vision.
